this is often the concluding paintings of the Llewellen trilogy, which started with "In the center of Things" and endured with "Into the Ashes." Robert Llewellen resides in Norfolk, Virginia, residing alone, operating as a firefighter, dwelling together with his stories of his past life. Then issues happen. He meets a rare lady named Sandy, and his outdated buddy Fish arrives at his door, mortally ill, asking just for a spot to die. Llewellen is once more confronted with love and demise and the that means of life.
